

Q & A: VACCINES and THE MARK of the BEAST

Thank you Michelle K. for your question:

All these people keep saying that the vax is the mark, or something that goes with the vax, like Bill Gates tracking chip thing. I come close to jumping on that bandwagon, but I just can't get there! The child has to make the decision to take it! All people will have to choose. Not the parents for the child, and not the govt taking the child from the parent and making the decision. I just can't see how that could be a thing. But anything else that it could be would be the same. Unless it comes down to a certain age of "maturity" where they don't need it (vax or something else) until a certain age (13 yrs for example) and that's when they allow the children to decide, and since they give vax the day babies are born anymore, I just don't see vax being the mark. Also, since young children and babies are "getting" this flu, they would require for them also, wouldn't they? I see this idea as a possibility because there are so many good arguments for it, but this one thing keeps getting in the way. And I just don't say things as fact until I have no disagreements. I have to KNOW it is true. What are your thoughts??

ANSWER

Thoughts on the mark: It does seem likely that if the mark is a vaccine with a chip or rfid in it, it will have to be paired with a visible mark on the surface of the skin or a way of seeing that the person has accepted it. A tattoo or branding, something visible. I have always said that I feel it will be an outward mark that people can easily see who has taken it and who has not. satan is proud. But in our modern technology filled world it only makes sense that it will be something hi tech and convenient. Vaccines have been around and a vaccine alone is not the mark.

I thought this next piece of information was interesting and wanted to share it here.

The acceptance of such an abomination is already being eased into hospitals. Newborns are currently being tracked while in the hospital to avoid mix-ups and kidnappings [8]. This tracking is made possible through an external device dubbed HALO. HALO is a technology from eXI wireless, a company previously acquired by Verchip Corp and now owned by Stanley Healthcare.

It's interesting that the HALO device is worn around the wrist or ankle, but has a name that is associated with the head. A Verichip implanted in the forehead would emit a literal radio frequency halo.

"VeriChip Corporation has completed the acquisition of eXI Wireless... As a result of the transaction, VeriChip Corporation will now offer RFID Products for People, through a complete array of implantable and external RFID products for people in the healthcare and security environment... HALO is the leading system for infant hospital security, helping healthcare facilities prevent infant abductions, accidental baby switching, and medical equipment theft and loss while providing a safe work environment for facility staff."

VeriChip Acquires eXI Wireless

Just as each person will stand alone before Christ to be judged, so is the decision to take or reject the mark of the beast. Each person has to make that decision for themselves. No one can make that decision for another person. Not even a parent for a child.

I believe in a pretribulation rapture. I do believe that right now the luciferians know what the mark of the beast is and that there are those who have already taken it voluntarily because they serve lucifer and they wanted it.

With a pretribulation rapture, all babies, toddlers and children that are under the age of accountability are taken to be with Jesus before people are faced with taking the mark of the beast. The age of accountability is different for each child. When a child understands what it meant for Jesus to shed His blood and lay His life down for them, to die so they could be forgiven of their sins and have eternal life, then they are accountable.

Something else to consider is that when the mark of the beast begins to be rolled out, why would children be marked? They cannot buy or sell. And even if satan made the whole world work in a slave system like they do in communist countries where they have child slave labor or child sweat shops – the age of accountability would still kick in.

Parents are responsible to teach their children what it means to be truly saved and also about the antichrist and the coming beast system and mark of the beast. We as parents have been given that mandate by God to teach our children His Word and His ways.

Proverbs 22:6 - Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it.

No matter what, as Christian parents, if we have done our part then we can trust God. He is just in all His ways.

<https://www.ridingthebeast.com/articles/666-hand-or-forehead/>